Fine, Doctor Foster...
Let me ask you again...
You recognized this man here.
Can you tell me who this is?
...I can't
Doctor, we need to identify this man to save your daughter.
Why can't you tell us?

He's not giving in.
That's strange. He was making a scene yelling his daughter's in danger just moments ago, and now, he's just quietly sitting there.
Could he be an accomplice?
Holding his own daughter hostage at his own hospital? Something's not right. He's hiding something.
What's there to hide when his daughter is in danger?
...
It must be something more important than her life. And this isn't a simple hostage situation for sure. Maybe something much worse.
I don't care who that terrorist is. We've wasted too much time. If we wait any longer, it won't do much good.

...Alright.
Let's make the first move.
Get the SWAT team ready.

How's the hospital layout?
It's not as hard as we thought. There are many ways to get in, so he won't be able to stop all of us alone.
That also means there are many ways to escape as well. Damn, we lost track of him because of that helicopter rashly blasting away.

Then I guess we should locate the suspect first.

Who shot that? Answer me!
It came from the tent!
Damn it! Doctor Foster!
Ugh...

Wait just a little longer...
Daddy's coming to save you...
